

PAMELA ELLIS, Ph.D.

PARENT EDUCATOR • COLLEGE COACH

PROFILE

Dr. Pamela Ellis, The Education Doctor®, award-winning educator and best-selling author of What to Know Before They Go, has visited 500+ campuses to help teens find a college that feels like home and partner with parents to avoid overpaying. After earning her BA degree at Stanford, she earned her MBA at Dartmouth, then received her PhD from the Stanford School of Education. Over the past 5 years, 95% of her students have been admitted to their top choice colleges and received an average of $75,000 in scholarships.

TOPICS + TALKING POINTS

- Don't Let the Sticker Price Fool Ya': What Parents Must Know About Paying for College
- How to Find the Right College
- BEFORE They Go: A Black Mom's College Prep Toolkit in the Wake of Rona and Race in the US
- 5 Key Lessons from Marathon Training to Rock High School
- Keep C.A.L.M. (College and Accelerated Leadership Mindset)
- Delegate or Die: 5 Keys for Women Leaders to Shift From Stifled to Successful
- Don't Hustle, Seek Harmony: 5 Keys for Women Leaders to Honor Their Best Self

CONNECTING

@theeducationdoctor

@theeducationdoctor

ON THE WEB

CompassCollegeAdvisory.com

TheEducationDoctor.com

CompassEducationStrategies.com

SHARING

Dr. Pamela will promote her interview on your podcast to her marketing list and her social media following as well as include a backlink to your podcast on her website media page.

